Womans Club, Kiwanis Meet In Joint Session

Ninety-five Kiwanis Club members and their wives, and Womans Club members and their husbands sat down to an excellent roast beef dinner at the Higgins Lake Conservation Training School Monday night for the annual joint meeting of the two clubs.

Following the dinner the group moved to the school classroom, where Conservation Commissioner George Griffith introduced Mr. Ralph Barrett of the University of Michigan, who spoke very interestingly and humorously on Michigan conservation. Mr. Barrett showed beautiful colored slides he had taken of outstanding beauty spots in Michigan. Mr. Barrett took his audience on hunting trips, fishing trips and sightseeing trips, which were enjoyed by everyone.

The next Womans Club meeting will be on November 16. This is guest night and each member is invited to bring a guest. The speaker will be Jack Donahue of Roscommon, one of the "Make a Will" speakers. This meeting will include the "Make a Will" program, in which each member is asked for a donation for the Self Help With Care project. Club President, Mrs. Bud Olson, would like to realize an amount of at least $25 for the project, which was used to send woodworking tools to a boy in Vietnam. It will be used for a similar project this year. Donations must be sent in by Thanksgiving, which is the reason for combining two projects at the November 16 meeting.

Achievement Committee Meet Postponed Until Tonight

The Grayling Achievement Committee meeting slated for Thursday night of last week was postponed until 7 p. m. this Thursday night at the Grayling Womans Club building on Ingham street due to severe weather.

It is expected that at this Thursday night's session, definite plans of the project for this coming year will be adopted, a financial quota set, a finance director named and a time for a drive for funds set for next spring.

If all of these things can be accomplished, the committee will then forego further meetings until spring time when the drive for funds would get underway and construction on the accepted projects would also start.

The project of building a new pair of tennis courts. The leveling preliminary work has been done at the site and it is expected that it can be laid this winter for use as a rink. The leveling cement will be laid for the courts and a fence erected.

Also under contemplation for next spring is a pair of more shuffleboard courts, a wading pool for smaller children and possibly a swimming pool for the older children of the community. At tonight's meeting, it will probably be decided as to what projects will be undertaken first and what financial goal should be set for a fund drive sometime next spring.

Peltz' Group To Untangle State's Problem

Representative Emil A. Peltz, representing the counties of Presque Isle, Montmorency, Crawford, Oscoda, and Ogemaw, has been appointed as a member of a committee of eleven top ranking Republicans from the House and Senate steering committee to untangle the state's financial problem.

The need for such a committee came about when the Supreme Court declared the use tax unconstitutional. Following that the governor threw in the sponge and declared that he was hoping that the Republicans would come up with a plan.

Following is a statement from Representative Peltz: "In spite of the fact that all efforts of the Republican party to solve the state's financial problem from early in the session when the Democrats prevented us from placing issues on the April ballot for the people to vote on."

Long Pass Play Brings Grayling Second Victory Of Football Season

Charlevoix Nails Down Conference Crown

The 1959 edition of the Viking football team will wind up their season this Friday night at the gridiron at Mancelona when they meet the second strongest team in the conference, the Ironmen.

Mancelona who had powered to five straight victories this season finally hit the end of the road last Friday night when to all purposes the Charlevoix Raiders won the conference crown with a 20 to 0 win over the Ironmen. Mancelona also had trouble the week before but sneaked past seventh place Harbor Springs 13 to 12. The Ironmen are big, fast and have plenty of football savvy.

Grayling scored their second win of this season last Friday night in the final home game at the Grayling Memorial Recreation Area when a long pass play from quarterback Steve Slink took back Roger Hatfield racked up the game's only score with Grayling leading back the Pelston Hornets 6 to 0. In other conference action last Friday, the Boyne City Ramblers eked out their second win of the season 7 to 6 over the East Jordan Red Devils and the Gaylord Blue Devils got back on the win trail with a 39 to 13 win over the Harbor Springs Rams.

Other action winding up the Northern Class C Conference this Friday will find Boyne City as Harbor Springs where anything can happen and Charlevoix will travel to Pelston where they should easily notch their sixth straight conference victory. Grayling will travel to East Jordan with the Blue Devils rated two touchdowns over the Red Devils.

Playing their final football game for Grayling this Friday night will be Captain Edna Wyman, George Smith, Roger Hatfield, George Ginterich, Jon Bond, Tom Brooks, Tim Perry, Roy Lovely, Bill Koerber and Dick MacLeod.

About Trout Unlimited

By Charles L. Pollard

With one eye on Michigan trout streams and the other one on Trout Unlimited, I can definitely see where the sportsman and nature lover is in need of this organization.

Less than ten years ago fly and bait fishermen sought for a number of trout within the boundaries of the state. With the passing of time more people became familiar with trout fishing and the conservation of the trout stream. Trout Unlimited was born. It was a natural development. The trout stream was being over-fished and the trout population was being depleted. Trout Unlimited was organized to help conserve the trout stream and to help the sportsman and nature lover. Trout Unlimited is a non-profit organization. It is a voluntary organization. It is a organization of sportsmen and nature lovers. It is a organization of people who love trout fishing and who love the trout stream. It is a organization of people who want to see the trout stream conserved and who want to see the trout population increased. It is a organization of people who want to see the trout stream managed in a way that will insure the future of the trout stream. It is a organization of people who want to see the trout stream managed in a way that will insure the future of the trout stream.

In all sincerity I say Trout Unlimited is not a prejudiced organization with a fishing squad aimed at bait fishermen. They are simply trying to help to conserve the trout stream and to help the sportsman and nature lover. Trout Unlimited is a organization of sportsmen and nature lovers. It is a organization of people who love trout fishing and who love the trout stream. It is a organization of people who want to see the trout stream conserved and who want to see the trout population increased. It is a organization of people who want to see the trout stream managed in a way that will insure the future of the trout stream. It is a organization of people who want to see the trout stream managed in a way that will insure the future of the trout stream.

It is a known fact that Commissioner George A. Griffith is on the Board of Directors. Many people know he is an ardent fly fisherman. I have never met him or any member of Trout Unlimited, but I know he is a sportsman and nature lover. Trout Unlimited is a organization of sportsmen and nature lovers. ## on-Partisan Spirit . . .

The principal labor leaders are going all out in a campaign to persuade the American people that the labor bill passed by the last Congress and signed by the President is, in reality, a slave labor law which will destroy genuine labor gains made over many years. And the leaders will do everything in their power to try to get the bill repealed or at least weakened by amendments in coming Congressional sessions.

This gives significance to something Fortune says editorially in its October issue: "Indeed, one of the most interesting aspects of the new labor legislation is the on-partisan spirit in which it was adopted. Toward the end of the long congressional debates on this 'tough' bill, it seemed as though the bill were scarcely controversial; legislators who voice the union line seem to be almost nonexistent these days. Senate liberals like Paul Douglas and Hubert Humphrey, who had shouted themselves hoarse against Taft-Hartley, this time stood on the sidelines, and finally voted for the bill without murmur. Even Pat McNamara, who went to Congress after eighteen years as president of a Detroit pipefitters' local ended up among the ninety-five Senators who voted yea."

Why did labor's best friends in Congress vote for the bill? They did so for but one reason—the obvious fact at corruption and abuses within the labor movement reached the point where the interests of the members themselves and the public at large made correction matter of utmost urgency. There could no longer be a milk-and-water bill. Well, the new bill is law. It now remains to be seen whether it is strong enough.

motorists feel that they provide much better visibility than white lines, particularly in bad weather, and no are an important safety factor.

But now Oregon's Highway Department announces that white lines will replace the yellow. Reason: The Federal government dictates that states must adopt white lines — or lose their share of the funds allocated to the multi-billion dollar interstate highway system.

The significance of this goes far beyond any merits and demerits of white-lines-vs.-yellow-lines. The Portland Oregonian makes the big point with admirable clarity: "When one accepts a 'gift' from Washington, one gives up the free choice that states, as well as individuals, hold dear. When Uncle Sam puts up the money for a new suit, he not only decides what kind of suit it shall be but also picks the color of the tie."

This truism should surprise no one — the principle is as old as government. Centuries ago, someone remarked that "he who pays the piper calls the tune." Now a swollen central government pays more and more pipers, and calls more and more of our tunes.

Michigan Lawmakers Will Get No Vacation Time This Year

MICHIGAN LAWMAKERS usually have at least a half year to rest up between sessions. Not so this year. They won't even have a week to clean out their desks. The marathon 1936 session, longest on record, has taken the legislature to within inches of the January opening of the 1937 session.

Bounds of '36 already are being heard in the legislative chambers. A busy docket is assured. Aftermath of the 1935 cash crisis and buildup for the 1936 fall elections will in themselves provide enough binding to keep the legislature in the Capitol during the winter.

State finances again will be the number one issue.

Investigations during the closing months of this year will provide ammunition for the opening shots of next year's legislative session.

One of the most battle-scarred issues, the state's "economic cliff," has been attacked by a committee headed by Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo).

Morris will take his five-man committee to several cities before reporting to the legislature with recommendations for bringing more jobs into Michigan.

The Morris committee won't have to look hard for suggestions. The Legislature's Economic Committee, headed by Gov. C. Merwin Williams (C-ME), and George Romney's Citizens for Michigan all have studies underway.

The Michigan Economic Council, more, which will be organized in December, is sure to have a few words of advice on behalf of businessmen.

Williams already has announced he will propose a new Economic Growth Act, patterned after the Federal Full Employment Act of 1946.
